Synopsis:

2012 is likely to be dominated by the economic fortunes of an uncertain Europe, slowing Asia and a resurgent US. In addition, the outcome of elections in the US and Europe may alter the course of regulatory reform, while exigent circumstances emanating from the middle-east could have a profound influence on global economics and politics.

Join us to learn about the different scenarios that could emerge during the course of the year and strategies that short-term investors can employ to navigate the accompanying uncertainty.

The presentation will be followed by a Q&A session.

In addition, participants will be eligible for one CTP/CCM recertification credit for the Association for Financial Professionals.
