The attention of Bondholders is drawn to Rule 14 of the Singapore Code on Take-overs and Mergers as the same may from time to time be amended or replaced. In general terms, these provisions regulate the acquisition of effective control of public companies. Bondholders should consider the implications of these provisions before they convert their Bonds. In particular, a Bondholder should note that he may be under an obligation to extend a takeover offer for the Issuer if:-

- (a) he intends to acquire, by the conversion of the Bonds, whether by a series of transactions over a period of time or not, Shares which (together with Shares held or acquired by him or persons acting in concert with him) carry 30% or more of the voting rights of the Issuer; or
- (b) he, together with persons acting in concert with him, holds not less than 30% but not more than 50% of the voting rights of the Issuer, and he or any person acting in concert with him, intends to acquire in any period of six (6) months additional Shares carrying voting rights of more than 1% of the Issuer, by the conversion of the Bonds or otherwise.

Bondholders are advised to consult their own professional advisers.
